Dear Parents,

As it is World Book Day and the school has been filled with characters full to the brim with colour, charisma and charm, we would like to take the opportunity to introduce our wonderful:

All Saints' Sixty Sixty books to read before the end of Year Six!

Before taking part in our annual costume parade this morning, the children were introduced to our exciting initiative. Each pupil within school has been given a booklet filled with sixty book recommendations. The suggestions are based upon numerous book reviews and include timeless children's classics as well as more contemporary stories – they cross a range of genres and cover a multitude of contexts, exploring various issues and themes. The onus is on each individual child to record when they have read each book and keep their All Saints' Sixty log safe. Upon completion, a small gift will be given as a token of their achievement. We have ensured books are available in school however the children are encouraged to read at home too (please see our choices on our website homepage). There is a wonderful display in our school library documenting our favourite choices. We are very excited about this challenge and hope you are too.

Our school has always encouraged daily reading; fifteen minutes per day will open up a whole host of opportunities for your child. As children grow older, it is still important that they read out loud to an adult as well as independently.

If you have any comments or would like to find out more, please do not hesitate to get in touch!

Kind regards,

Mrs. F. Stephenson & Mrs. J. Forrest
